A Thomaston Visitor's Thrilling Experience Near Tokio In the Earthquake.

A Belfast correspondent has the following to say about the adventures of a woman who visited relatives in Thomaston last Sunday:

"Mrs. Fennimore B. Lynch of Boston, one of the victims of the earthquake in Japan, is the guest for a few weeks of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ryder in Belfast.

"Mrs. Lynch was at Kamakura, a resort near Tokio, at the time of the disaster, and she was buried alive and just escaped the tidal wave. After lying under the fallen buildings for a long time and calling in vain for help, she was finally found by her servants. It was thought at first that her back was broken, but that was not the case, although the muscles were badly torn. She was taken on board a rescue ship and there supplied with clothing.

"Mr. Lynch, who was manager of one of the banks of the International Banking Company in Tokio, was uninjured, and he walked the 36 miles from Tokio to Kamakura during the night, in about 10 hours, having a trying experience and suffering great anxiety as to Mrs. Lynch's fate. He is to have a year's leave of absence and will come to this country soon. Mrs. Lynch to meet him in Chicago the last of this month. They will go for a time to Orono, N. Y., to visit his grandparents.

"Mrs. Lynch is still in a highly nervous condition, although she is steadily improving, and she has no serious injuries, the physicians have found. She does not yet wish to talk of her experiences during the earthquake."

TROUBLE OF ALL KINDS

Judge Miller's Court Is Certainly Getting a Wide Variety These Crisp Fall Days.

If you walk Main street these days with a bulging hip and an unclean conscience before the x-ray eyes of Deputy Sheriff Clarence Everett Harrington. Standing in one of his conning towers Armistice Day the officer spied such a hip and kept his weather eye on the possessor of it until he saw the man enter the Elm street rooming house known as "The Elms." A warrant was issued, a raid was made, and the bulging hip was found to be due to a grip which contained four gallons of grain alcohol, and which was in the possession of one Giuseppe Dengelo.

Laura Bonneau, the landlady, testified that Dengelo came to her establishment Friday morning, accompanied by another Italian, who left Monday morning. In the process of the raid the officers visited several rooms. Deputy Sheriff Rokes found one of them occupied by two girls who said they had been there a week, and who were summoned into court as witnesses. Deputy Rokes, who is a modest and diffident young man, stood aghast when he encountered the couple.

"What did he say to you?" Judge Miller asked the girls.
"Oh, he gave us a sarcastic glance," replied one of them. And henceforth the bashful "Sherm" will be known as the Man with the Sarcastic Glance.

No defence was offered by Dengelo, who was given the customary sentence—six months in jail, $500 and costs, etc. He appealed. Tirrell for the respondent.

Just a Family Jar
John B. Hall of Thomaston, who is employed at the State Prison, was before Judge Miller Tuesday, charged with assault and battery upon his wife. The examination convinced Judge Miller that the case was not an especially aggravated one, and that the wife had been more or less mixed up in the spat, so he imposed a minimum sentence—$6 and costs. Tirrell for respondent.

Gasoline And Bug Juice
State Inspector Charles D. Wentworth brought into Rockland Court yesterday morning, one Ernest F. Robishaw, who was charged with having operated an automobile Tuesday while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The respondent pleaded "guilty," but the sentence did not run quite parallel to his views of what the case demanded, and he appealed.

Judge Miller reminded Robishaw of the edict which he issued July 15 to the effect that jail sentences would thereafter be imposed for such offences, and said that he had since imposed six jail sentences. Believing that consistency is a jewel he sentenced Robishaw to three months in jail and to pay costs of court.

This Case Dismissed
Frank Thompson of Matineus was arraigned before Judge Miller yesterday, on the charge of taking some rope and a gasoline tank which belonged to John Abbott. The complainant was in Boston when the case was called, and no evidence of any kind connecting Mr. Thompson with the case was presented. He was consequently discharged. Pike for the prosecution; Smalley for the respondent.

More Trouble At Matineus
Fred Y. Ames of Matineus and a young Rockland woman were defendants in Rockland Court yesterday on a very serious charge. The arrest had been made by Deputy Sheriff Ripley who obtained the State's evidence on the night of Armistice Day while raiding Ames' camp on a search and seizure warrant.

Frank A. Tirrell who appeared as counsel for the respondents pleaded "nolo," but asked that the case be disposed of with a minimum fine, on the ground that such offenses are of common occurrence in Rockland and larger cities, while at Matineus where everybody knows everybody else's business they get found out.

"There are three classes," said Judge Miller—"those who don't get found out, those who do get found out, and those who get found out, but don't get punished." He referred to a recent disgraceful affair on Cottage street, and to a Camden case tried not long ago in Supreme Court, which he declared to be much more flagrant than the one then before him.

A fine of $300 was imposed upon the girl and a fine of $350 and costs upon the man. The costs amounted to $50. It was further stipulated that the girl should leave Matineus and a jail sentence was threatened in case the parties again appeared in Rockland Court on this charge.

"I hope I will not have so many Matineus cases after Jan. 1st," said Judge Miller in conclusion.

The search and seizure case against Fred Y. Ames was dismissed, as no evidence was shown that the liquor was intended for illegal sale.

PRIZE ESSAYS

Public Library Announces the Winners In Children's Book Week Contest.

The Public Library takes great pleasure in announcing the winners of the Prize Essay Contest which it has been promoting for Children's Book Week. The contest was open to the students of the Grammar and High Schools of Rockland, three prizes offered for the best essays written by students from each of the groups.

The winners of the contest open to High School students were:
First prize, Norman S. Waldron, who wrote upon "The Americanization of Edward Bok" as the best book he had ever read. Mr. Waldron is a member of the Sophomore class.

Second prize to Haveren Cassens who chose the Bible as the best book he had ever read.

Third prize to Thayer Kimball of the Freshman class, who chose as his best book "Trilby" by Du Maurier.

Because of the fine construction and original treatment of his subject a place for fourth prize was made, and given to Herbert Prescott of the Junior class for his essay upon "Freckles," by Gene Stratton Porter.

Other essays were submitted by Katherine Veazie and Martha Waggart of the Sophomore class. Miss Veazie wrote upon the Little Colonel Series by Annie Fellows Johnston, and Miss Waggart chose "Quincy Adams Sawyer," by Charles Pidgeon.

The winners of the contest open to Grammar School students were:
First prize, Elizabeth G. Duncan of 18 Thomaston street, 11 years old, the subject for these essays was "The Five Books I Like Best" and Miss Duncan chose "Beautiful Joe," "The Five Little Peppers in the Little Brown House," "Pussycat Blackface," "The Lighthouse Keeper" and "The Adventures of Joel Pepper."

Second prize, Marian Davis of 80 Masonic street, 11 years, who chose the Bible, the Dictionary, Longfellow's poems, "The Secret Garden" by Frances Hodgson Burnett, and "Michael O'Halloran" by Gene Stratton Porter.

Third prize, Etta Brown of 61 Cedar street, 12 years, who chose "Little Women," "Little Men," "Pollyanna," "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Red Pepper Burns."

The library was most fortunate in securing Miss Rita Smith of Thomaston and Rev. Walter S. Rounds of Rockland as judges for this contest. Both are especially well fitted to serve in a contest of this sort and much care and thought was given before the decisions were made. The essays were submitted unnamed to the judges and the decisions were based upon the treatment of the subjects rather than the book chosen.

ANOTHER NATURE STORY

Mrs. George Nash, writing from Winterville to a Rockland friend, says: Saturday afternoon George and I, working upstairs, noticed a partridge out with the hens. The rooster especially resented his presence and the old hens also picked him, but still he did not fly away; so I thought something must have hurt his wing and I went out and tried to tell him to get off. The next day, while I was at Sunday school, George saw the bird again and chased him till he caught him and caged him in a chicken coop, whither we all went to have a look at him. Later George decided to change him to another coop, when he slipped from his hands and flew away and we admired his graceful partridge flight, though poor George looked pretty serious. This noon he caught him again and was all smiles—and then a neighbor, who heard our partridge squawking, came over and claimed him as her pet bantam hen! We are all smiling when we think of it. I had been planning to send the partridge to the newspaper, but guess I'll lie low, now.

MAINE'S YOUNGEST HUNTER

George Thomas, 10-year-old son of Jesse Thomas of Seamsmont, shot a doe while hunting in that town this week. His father, who accompanied him, also landed a deer the same afternoon.

A carload of the new 6-cylinder Oakland cars was added to the rolling stock of the Sea View Garage Tuesday, and the handsome machines are now on exhibition at the show room. The dealers claim many advantages for these cars, not the least of which is that it is the lowest price 6-cylinder, 4-wheel brake car on the road. The Oakland is a General Motors product.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

TRUE BLUE
Betty, in a gown of blue, went to walk with me, Everything was blue that day—a sapphire symphony.
The skies were blue, her eyes were blue, and, as I said before,
Her gown was blue; all tucks and things and fluffy frills galore.
I added just a jarring note, the "rift within the lute."
For I was blue as indigo and quarrelsome to boot.

Upon a bank we sat us down—a green bank by the way;
The sky old sun beamed down on us, it was a lovely day.
The blue that permeated me somehow all flittered through;
The world began to look again quite cheerful to my view.
For who could sit upon a bank with Betty's hand in his
And not be saccharine with joy and brimming o'er with bliss?

And when, at sunset, slowly we sauntered back to town,
If you'll believe me, all the blue was gone from Betty's gown!
The skies had lost their color too, a rosy light was shining,
And every little cloud aloft turned out a silver lining.
Old Sol had done his level best to put the blues to rout,
But Betty's eyes were just as blue as when we started out!

VICTORY SURE:—Greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.—1 John 4:4.

A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The score of citizens, drafted as a ways and means committee, who met in conference with Mayor Brown Tuesday evening, gave consideration to the movement inaugurated by the City Government through its recent action authorizing the School Board to contract for the construction of a new High School Building. While the situation with respect to this need of new school quarters is generally apparent, some of its particular aspects were again passed in review by two or three speakers, followed by a general discussion of plans and drawings for a proposed enlargement and modernizing of the Lincoln street building, submitted by Mr. Bunker & Savage of Augusta.

Mayor Brown, opening the meeting, emphasized the demand now grown citywide for relief from conditions that have become no less than disgraceful. Mrs. Snow, speaking as a member of the school board with knowledge of those conditions, pointed out that in the High School auditorium with a capacity for 200 pupils, one to a desk, 405 pupils, two to a desk, have daily to be herded, with all the natural accompanying discomfort and insanitation. The stairways, she declared, present a constant menace. If a tragedy some day issues from these conditions, if children are maimed and killed, Rockland citizens would never forgive the neglect that stood responsible. The School Board, with clear knowledge, begs that something be done, that the citizens no longer suffer these reprehensibly grave conditions to endure. Supt. Hull called attention to the steady increase of the boys and girls demanding high school education, a thing we can neither repress nor ignore, but must provide for.

The plans submitted by the architects, merging the present building into a modern structure designed to accommodate 500 pupils, appear to meet the situation as fully as can be hoped for in any scheme short of an entirely new building. There is the one fact staring us in the face, namely that something has to be done, and quickly. The ideal thing lies in a new building set in the midst of ample grounds, but that can only be dreamed of, unless some benefactor with ample purse should hold out an open hand. It is possible, we believe, to find the approximately $90,000 that these suggested plans call for. How to make possible the raising of that sum is now the business of a finance committee which the meeting directed the Mayor to appoint and which he has named as follows: H. N. McDougall, George B. Wood, Homer E. Robinson, E. C. Payson, William D. Talbot, Dwight Virgin and C. I. Burrows—an admirable selection.

The Courier-Gazette believes it expresses the view entertained by the chief body of our citizens, that no more important question today presents itself for solution than is bound up in this High School situation, embarrassed as it is with the fixed debt of the municipality, forever laying its frigid hand upon any gesture of progress. But there should be some avenue possible to be opened up that shall let us through to the desired objective. May wisdom be granted the committee to uncover it.

MADE STRONG IMPRESSION

Bobby Onion Talked at Health Meeting—Jolly Jester a Tremendous Success at Park Theatre.

Rockland children, 800 strong, invaded Park Theatre yesterday morning and spent what was undoubtedly one of the most valuable, and surely one of the most amusing hours of their young lives. The occasion was a health talk by the Jolly Jester from Healthland. He appeared clad as a conventional clown astride a talkative broom-stick horse and their arguments convulsed the youthful audience.

Various articles of diet were introduced, as Johnny Turnip, Charley Carrot and Bobby Onion, the member with the strong personality. Their conversation was to the point and while the boys and girls were in a constant gale of laughter, the truths were firmly implanted in their minds. They will long remember the sleeping baby and the milk diet. The dangers of coffee drinking and cake eating were stressed in a way that never could be done in the classroom. The results of proper diet were presented in an equally emphatic manner.

At the close of the hour the laugh-makers departed for Thomaston but youngsters and grownups alike who were the crowded auditorium agreed that a vote of thanks was due the Maine Public Health Association under whose auspices the remarkable lecture was given.

Holiday labor is sometimes excusable and this may apply to the intensive exertion of the Larabee & Dodge staff on Armistice Day. The entire stock of goods was moved from the old stand to the new store at the corner of Rockland and Main streets, where snug quarters had been carefully prepared. The firm is now well settled and finds the cozy new home to its liking.

at the Bates-Colby game in Waterville Monday. While he wasn't quite so much interested perhaps as if Dowdell had been one of the contenders, he was enjoying the contest with all the zest that your true sportsman finds in genuine contests for championship. In his younger and more athletic days Mr. Levensaler was a factor in Thomaston High School athletics, and I also remember him as a worthy opponent of the local tennis players. I think he will also recall that game he played with the Rockland Old Timers in Vinalhaven where he emulated the famous "Casey" Stengel either.—The Sporting Editor.

Strengthening of weaker teams in the major baseball leagues through giving a team of lower standing preference to players upon whom waivers have been asked will be one of the suggestions of changes to the rules to be submitted for action at the joint meeting of the major leagues in Chicago Dec. 12. WILLIS AYER

You know there's a Glenwood in the cellar

So much depends on proper heating in a modern home. A poor heating system leaves chilly corners in one room and hot, stagnant air in the next. But in a house that has a Glenwood in the cellar you will notice a difference almost as soon as you are inside the front door.

The modern Glenwood is the Single-Pipe Heating System. From its one big radiator it keeps a steady flow of warm air circulating through the house. It does not heat the cellar, which is a great advantage in country homes where a cool cellar is essential for the storage of fruit and vegetables. You can burn any kind of fuel in this modern heater—wood, coal, soft coal, coke and even rubbish.

The feed doors are wide enough to admit large logs, and the new wood grate will keep them burning night and day as steadily as a coal fire.

The low cost of a Glenwood Single-Pipe Heating System will surprise you. We shall be glad to have you come in and ask us for particulars. We can save fuel for this winter.

Pipe models of this same furnace may be had in several sizes for coal or wood.

The Lynn Engineers were defeated 18 to 0 by the much heavier Colby Classical Institute team in Augusta Monday. Dick Reed of Rockland played full back for Colby, but with one ankle still in a plaster cast is naturally not able to do the brilliant work which marked his playing the first of the season. The Records—Clyde and Otto—starred for Lynn in the back field.

Rockland football fans who attended the Bates-Colby game in Waterville Monday found a good angel in Carl A. An eight-point buck and two doe resulted from the week's hunting of Alden F. Pettee and William E. Brown. They were in the Chesuncook region and passed within halting distance of the Pearl Tibbets party camp, though they got no response to their shots. The woods were too dry and noisy for easy hunting and their progress was hampered by an inch of ice in the stream. When the Tibbets party came down they experienced considerable difficulty in making the trip. The buck and one doe fell before the Pettee gun.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, S. of V. will hold a Christmas sale at C. A. R. hall Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 21. Fancy articles, aprons, home made candy, cooked food, jelly, preserves, etc. Supper at 6. Fine opportunity to buy Christmas gifts. 137-139

The Deep Sea Fisheries, Inc., is getting the steam trawler Widgeon ready as rapidly as possible and when that craft goes into commission the company will have a formidable fleet of nine steam craft combining the fishing banks. James F. Claffy of Boston, an expert and veteran violinist, who in the course of a varied career has been associated with some of the best musicians in the country, has located in Rockland, with the expectation of spending the remainder of his days here, according to his own emphatic statement. Mr. Claffy has been playing in the Capital and Cohen theatres in New York, and in Boston he has been seen many years in the orchestra pits of the Holistic, Majestic, Shubert and Park theatres. He received his first violin instruction at the age of 6 and in turn has been an instructor with that instrument for 25 years. Five times he has been a member of the Maine Festival orchestras. On one of his many road tours he visited Rockland, playing in Farnwell House with Statist Saxette, which is still pleasantly remembered by local music lovers. Having seen much of the country and devoted many years to the nerve-wrecking professional work, Mr. Claffy is quite content to seek something that more nearly resembles the simple life. He is now playing with Marston's Orchestra, and is being most cordially welcomed by the musical fraternity of Rockland.

VESSEL NEWS

Schooner Lydia McLellan Baxter before reported sunk by Hertha (Ger.) in Lynhaven Roads was at anchor at the time. The vessel lies in 24 feet of water; crew saved.

Schooner Lydia McLellan Baxter was floated early Monday by Merritts, and is now off Sewall's Point.

Schooners Gilbert Standliff from Round Pond, Ella Clifton, Round Pond, Gold Hunter from Waldoboro, and James L. Mulloy from Wiscasset, arrived at Lynn, with boxboards the 4th.

Fishing schooner Elizabeth Howard lies on the rocks on the rugged coast of Nova Scotia east of Halifax. The vessel is broken in two, the fore part turning hull up and the remainder of the vessel a mass of twisted wreckage. The crew arrived at Halifax and told of peering through fog to see breakers almost under her bow. She struck and immediately began to break up and they had to leave her carrying nothing with them but the clothes they wore. Capt. John McInnes remained by the wreck.

Terrazzo floors are being laid in the new wing of K. A. Hospital. The corridor, bathrooms, x-ray room and bone fracture room are being thus provided.

The Electrified Home is Distinctive

There is an "air" about the home fitted with complete electric wiring—one that women emulate and men appreciate.

You notice it in the placing of many cozy lamps, in the sparkle of electric table cooking conveniences, in the spic and span atmosphere that follows the use of electric servants.

Particularly do you notice it in the restful hospitality of the hostess—her leisure earned, not stolen.

Complete electric wiring makes a new delightful home life—and it costs surprisingly little. Let us tell you how little.

BUMPER SPUD CROP

Fifteen Million Bushels Over Early Estimates—New England's Apple Crop.

Late potato crop reports made public by the United States department of agriculture station in Wakefield, Mass., indicate a total estimated yield of 416,722,000 bushels up to Nov. 1, an increase of 15,200,000 bushels over earlier estimates issued by the department. Increases in the commercial apple crop were also announced, the total for the United States reaching 33,522,000 barrels as compared with 31,090,000 last year and the five year average of 27,491,000 barrels. A large increase in the cranberry crop was also reported.

Maine, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan contributed the chief inner gains which increased the total potato yield, the department reported. The total crop, while falling short of the big 1922 crop of 451,185,000 bushels, was far above the five year average of 389,173,000 bushels.

Yields throughout New England exceeded earlier estimates. Maine's crop was 33,480,000 bushels against the five year average of 25,949,000, while the total New England yield was 49,135,000 or 11,560,000 bushels greater than the five year average.

The New England apple crop of 1,167,000 barrels exceeds by 567,000 barrels last year's total and is 432,000 barrels above the five year average. The New York crop showed a falling off, the total crop being 13,196,000 barrels compared with last year's yield of 20,080,000. It was, however, greater than the five year average of 17,924,000. Western and northwestern crops with a total yield of 14,326,000 barrels, showed a gain of 3,316,000 barrels over last year and exceeded the five year average by below average owing to the cool, dry season.

The Massachusetts cranberry crop was 350,000 bushels against the average of 265,000. With increases in New Jersey and Wisconsin the total yield is given at 619,000 barrels, a gain of 57,000.

Average corn crops for grain were reported in Massachusetts and Connecticut, but the other New England States reported crops considerably below average owing to the cool, dry season and fall frosts. The four northern states put from 65 to 80 per cent of their corn into silos, while Rhode Island and Connecticut retained 40 per cent for grain. Yields of oats and other grains are near average and the quality is mostly good.

SOUTH THOMASTON

The people of this little village were called upon to pay the last sad rites to one who by his quiet and unassuming life, his kind and gentle nature made many friends, in the funeral services of James Frederick Dow, held Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Watts, Rev. R. R. Winchell, pastor of the village church, officiated. Beautiful floral tributes were a silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Mr. Dow was born in this village May 17, 1843, and that he had rounded out 80 years of life was a source of gratification and pride to him. He was the son of James and Julia (Thordike) Dow, to whom four children were born, Mrs. Julia Dow Allen being the only survivor. In early life the deceased followed the sea, making long foreign voyages and twice sailing around the world. After his marriage to Miss Cioella J. Sweetland he left the deep water vessels and commanded small schooners in the coastwise trade. At the decline of commerce he gave up the sea entirely and learned the stonecutters trade which he followed until the infirmities of age compelled him to abandon it. He was a member of Knox Lodge, I. O. O. F., having been connected with that fraternity 35 years. He was a lifelong Republican and served his town as Representative to the State Legislature in 1893. His wife died 21 years ago, since which time his daughters, Mrs. Ava Brazier and Mrs. Charles Watts, have ministered to his wants, and in his last sickness given him the tenderest care. He also leaves three grandchildren, Emily, Marion and Charles Watts, Jr. Sympathy is extended to all and especially to Mrs. Emily who was much beloved by her grandfather and who was unable to be present on account of business engagements in another State.

QUARRY AND KILN

Bulletin Tells of Busy Crews
In All Branches of the Industry.

A new snow plow similar to those used by the Maine Central is being constructed, with some changes to conform to requirements of the L. R. R. R. It is to be five feet longer than the former plow, will have two four-wheel trucks instead of one as before, and a longer shear constructed from a plan by Foreman Blackington which he guarantees will eliminate the erratic capers cut up by the old plow.

Harvey Howard was out last week from injury received by being caught between two cars in the repair shop, which suddenly came together when a jack slipped.

The widening and cutting out of bushes from the Y to the crossover makes the track look like a trotting park, and also gives a good view of all the switches.

When a well-dressed stranger entered the roundhouse the other day and observed the partly erected frame of the new snow plow, he inquired of John Shephard the boss builder, "What was going to be?" John promptly replied, "A boat." "A boat?" exclaimed the stranger. "Yes," said John, "we're making this to race the Bluenose next year." The visitor must have believed it for he quickly left.

The new boiler house and inside fixings is all completed and ready for action.

Lighter Berwick discharged 1500 No. 1 and Jacobs from Rockport last Friday.

An additional Iron King hydrate barrel packer is to be installed in mill No. 2. It is of the same pattern as the one now in use.

A quick job was done on the new sand bin on the end of the Perry wharf the other day, a bin 40 feet by 24 feet, 4 1/2 feet deep, being erected and ready for sand in 2 1/2 hours from the time the first floor plank was laid. The foundation had previously been prepared. The unexpected announcement that a sand lighter would be in at noon was the cause of this hurry-up act, which showed what a mill crew could do when an emergency call sounded. Three thousand feet of boards and 100 pounds of nails were used.

By-Products

Frank Cates has leased the blacksmith shop on Main street, near Gay park, to house his cars, and also shoe horses and do repair work, when off duty at the gas kilns. He has had 20 years' experience in this kind of work and guarantees the best job possible.

Quarries

William Flint of the hard rock is through for the winter.

The derick at Blackington farm 4 is being moved to its new location this week.

Work at Blackington farm 5 has suspended. The "what name" crew has been disbanded and gone to different sections.

Operation of hard rock 4 ceased last week. The crew has been transferred to Crockett 1 which has been closed down for several weeks.

Sidney Wall who bruised the muscles of his right arm Nov. 1, while prying a drag, returned to work this week.

Harvey Crowley and Judson Putnam of hard rock 3 and Fred Luscomb and Roy Wiggins of Crockett 3, all of South Thomaston, have gone into seclusion for the winter so far as the quarries are concerned.

Repairing walls and rebuilding the rail guards along the roadside of quarries from Middle street to below Pleasant street is being done by a Walsh crew. The guards are white-washed as finished which gives an up-to-date look to the job.

Pumps and pipes have been removed from Crockett 1, preparatory to blowing western bluff between 1 and 2, to get at rock underneath. Albert Brown of Morse's Corner is superintending blowing operation. The top at hard rock 2 will also be blown for the same purpose.

Gregory

Week-about shifts for the kiln crews went into effect last Saturday.

A new iron stairway has been put in at entrance to shed at No. 1 kiln.

Five kilns are in operation: Nos. 4, 7, 8, 10 and 11. Nos. 5 and 6 have been repaired and repairs are now being made on Nos. 1 and 2.

Production for the week of November 19 run along pretty good, No. 4 taking a long lead over the others with 1240 barrels. No. 7 had 1062; 8, 1089; 10, 1045; 11, 971 1/2; the average per kiln being 1079 1/2.

Point

Schoner Billings Bros. with 150,000 staves and Mary Emily with 25,000 brick discharged last week.

Melvin Drinkwater has returned from Rockport and resumed his old job on No. 3, Antonio Delmonico who has been substituting for him is going on as jobber and trimmer.

Pepperbox 3 beat 'em to it the week of November 3, with 1206, but all the kilns did well for soft rock production. No. 2 had 1069 1/2; 4, 1079 1/2; 5, 1170 1/2; 7, 1116 1/2; 8, 1039 1/2; 10, 1145 1/2; an average of 1070 1/2 per kiln, making another good week for soft rock production.

The neat and orderly arrangement of material in the stock shed is worth mentioning and due credit given Foreman Uimer who has the building in charge. The clear driveway through center of shed makes all material easy of access for loading. Staves are piled cobble style to the roof and in such manner that an actual count can be made at a glance.

Five-Kilns

Kiln 4 filled out last Thursday and 1 and 2 did the same thing Saturday, closing production for this point for the season. The line in the shed will be shipped as soon as barges arrive, and the shed closed for the winter. Operation of kilns began April 8 this year, making a run of seven months and two days. Last year only two months' run was had.

The last full week production maintained the high average of kilns for this season. No. 4 coming across as leader for the week of November 3. No. 1 had 1093 1/2; 3, 1255 1/2; 4, 1293 1/2.

Edward Rhodes was on duty as super pro tem last week in the absence of Mr. Thorndike who was taking a week's vacation.

Charlie Lane received a severe finger injury last Thursday while helping load a truck.

The super pro tem did a quick job in

Mr. H. J. Allen:

Dear Sir:—Your lung healer was recommended to me five years ago and I have been using it since then with splendid results. I had several attacks of pneumonia previously and my lungs had become very susceptible to colds and pneumonia. I found that when I used the Lung Healer in the first stages of a cold it would break it up quickly. As a result I have not had pneumonia for several years. Last winter I neglected a cold too long and before I realized it I had all the symptoms of the dreaded disease. Having read your circular recommending your anti-congestant to be used externally in preventing pneumonia (with the Lung Healer) I used both and received almost instant relief. The congestion and soreness began to disappear and in a few days were entirely gone and I was as well as ever. Your two remedies not only prevented, but cured pneumonia, and you can use this letter to prove it.

MRS. A. C. EVERETT

The death of Mrs. Adrian C. Everett in Grandview, Yakima county, Wash., Oct. 26, has already been noted in this paper. The following obituary notice appeared in the Grandview Herald:

"After a lingering illness of four years, Mrs. A. C. Everett died Monday evening at her home south of Grandview of tuberculosis at the age of 43. Mr. and Mrs. Everett were among the early settlers of the Grandview district, coming here in 1909. They drew one of the homesteads south of town and have developed it into a very valuable piece of property.

"Mrs. Everett had never been a hand to go out much, even before taken sick, but devoted all of her time to her home and children, but made friends of all who came in contact with her. Everything possible was done for her, but her strength was not enough to overcome the disease.

"Surviving her are Mr. Everett, one daughter and two sons. Funeral services were held Wednesday from the Haskins parlors, Rev. J. P. Anderson officiating. The family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in their bereavement."

John Currier and Royal McIntire left Saturday to spend Sunday with their families in Bath and Wiscasset. Thomas Webster plans to join them in Bath Monday enroute to Ram Island where they will be stationed hereafter.

There is general regret at the loss of these men to Seguin. Mr. Webster entertained frequently with selections on the violin. Mr. McIntire did justice to the accordion and sang his witty songs and Mr. Currier cheered everybody with his sunny disposition. The only blemish while this trio was here was on Nov. 3 when Mr. McIntire was taken suddenly ill with what is supposed to have been an attack of indigestion.

Fred Chandler is visiting Aston Beal.

MAKES TRAVEL SAFER

Mechanical Gear Shift of the Apperson Cars Helping Solve a Vexed Problem.

In practically every town and city of any size in the country the traffic problem is one of the most vexed and discussed questions of the day. Thirteen million automobiles and trucks on the streets and roads of the United States with all indications for still greater production next year, means that this question bids fair to hold the stage for some time to come.

According to A. C. Jones, the Apperson dealer, the mechanical gear shift on the Apperson Six and Eight cylinder cars is the greatest step forward made on the automobile for safer and easier driving.

"We believe that Apperson engineers," said Mr. Jones, "have done more, by adopting the mechanical gear shift, to make driving a motor car easier and safer than any invention that has ever been made on the automobile. 'Many accidents come because the driver fails to keep his head in an emergency and in the confusion grabs the gear shift lever for the brake handle. With the Mechanical Gear Shift, the driver can keep his eyes on the road at all times and his hand on the steering wheel. This gear shift in traffic is the greatest thing that has ever put on a motor car. In the first place, you can run through first, second and third gear just as quickly as you can move the selector on the steering wheel post and throw out the clutch. This means quicker acceleration which will move the Apperson out of the way of danger. You cannot block traffic because of 'clashing gears' as the mechanical gear shift makes this impossible. After you reach high gear you immediately return the selector to the small notch on steering wheel marked '2' for second gear, and when you have to stop and shift gears again all you have to do is depress the clutch and you are in second, ready to start right out. In an instant you are back in high gear, threading your way through traffic with both hands on the wheel, ready for any emergency."

"Such ease of control gives the driver confidence and is conducive to a level head under all conditions. 'Incidentally, there are no levers in the driver's compartment which permits the driver to get in and out of the car on the quick side. It isn't necessary to walk around the car to get in on the left side and run the chance of being brushed by a passing car."

"There are ladies in Rockland driving Apperson cars who were afraid to drive before because of the worry and strain of trying to get gears to mesh. Now, these ladies are driving anywhere at anytime, enjoying to the fullest the biggest thing in America today—the automobile."

The Educational Club has received two invitations for afternoon meetings with miscellaneous programs and refreshments for dates to be announced following Thanksgiving. The regular lecture course will open Dec. 21, and consist as usual of at least 10 addresses from State speakers. This season promises to be of exceptional excellence and several celebrities are already booked. Members are being constantly added.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Snow of North Haven have been visiting Capt. and Mrs. George E. Horton at Rockland Highlands.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Hemenway street, Boston, was the scene of a happy dinner party Monday evening, the occasion being the birthday of ex-Mayor Arnold H. Jones of Rockland, who is spending the week there. Mrs. Jones, who had preceded her husband to Boston, was in the "plot," and the dinner will be listed by the guest of honor as one of his happiest milestones. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Jones were dinner guests of Dr. H. M. Robbins in Malden.

Mrs. Albert Chartrand, son Porter and daughter Madeline, left yesterday for Clarksburg, West Virginia, where they formerly resided. Mr. Chartrand leaves later on, after his contract expires, with the Lime Corporation.

Mrs. John O. Stevens and Mrs. A. C. Jones gave an auction party and buffet lunch at the latter's home on Talbot avenue Tuesday evening, further interest being added to the pleasant occasion by the fact that it was also a handkerchief shower for Miss Nellie Winslow. The handkerchiefs were presented in the form of a bridal bouquet, and were accompanied by silver. The auction winners were Mrs. Maude O'Brien Hallowell, Mrs. C. W. Proctor, Mrs. F. E. Follett, Mrs. V. F. Studley, Mrs. L. A. Crockett and Mrs. Frank L. Clark.

Lyman Stanley and bride (formerly Mrs. Wilmer Smith) were surrounded by a large group of friends at their home 12 Gay street. To ignore the presence of the visitors was an impossibility and the newlyweds gracefully surrendered to the situation by inviting them in. A very happy evening was spent. Refreshments were served and the men guests departed smoking wedding cigars.

On Armistice Day Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Duncan entertained at "Red Roof" farm, Alford's Lake, the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snow, Arthur Baker, Miss Linnie Brewer, Miss Emma Wellington, Miss Lillian Baker and Mrs. Walter Pollard. A picnic dinner was served, consisting of clam chowder, crackers, pickles, hot rolls, doughnuts, pie and coffee. The day was a perfect one and the afternoon was spent in outdoor diversion.

Miss Helena Pierce and friends spent Sunday and Armistice Day at the Duncan cottage, Holiday Beach.

Monday evening 24 members of the Kallioch Class of the Baptist church, met at the home of Mrs. Sarah Prescott to bid farewell to Mrs. Albert Chartrand, who left Wednesday for Clarksburg, West Virginia. Fruit and assorted candies constituted the refreshments, which were very nice, especially the tulip buds. Mrs. Mary Adams, president of the class, presented Mrs. Chartrand with a pretty glass fruit dish, and the recipient expressed her appreciation in feeling terms. It was a jolly party intended to drive a dull care away, yet with its sting of regret that the class was to lose so valuable a member—one who leaves only pleasant memories behind her, and one who was ever ready and willing to do whatever her hand found to do.

The Neighborhood Club met with Mrs. Ollie Dargrett Wednesday. Those present were Mrs. John Brewster, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Sherman Eaton, Mrs. Fred Vinal, Mrs. Benjamin Twaddell, Mrs. Josiah Norton, Mrs. Robert Adams, Mrs. Raymond Grindle and Mrs. Mary Chapman. The Club will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Norton.

Mrs. Alma Leo has returned home after spending the summer at McGee Island, Port Clyde.

Mrs. William S. Healey and daughter Pauline leave tomorrow for their new home in Santa Barbara, Calif., joining Mr. Healey, who recently located there. They will spend several days in Woonsocket. R. L. guests of Mrs. Healey's sister, Mrs. Louis J. Harty; and in St. Louis will make brief visit with Mr. Healey's uncle, E. S. Healey. They will arrive in Santa Barbara Thanksgiving Day.

Miss Dorothy Munk, an employee of the Security Trust Co., is having her annual vacation, which in this instance is a somewhat varied one, including visits in Union and Portland and the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. R. Chester Roberts (Elva Simmons) and little son Milton, leave tomorrow morning for their new home in De Land, Fla., where Mr. Roberts has a position as foreman of the Gates Electric Co. Mrs. Roberts will be accompanied to New York by her brother, Ernest Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Clinton are spending a fortnight among their Rockland friends as part of a month's vacation from duty in the steward's department of the Franklin (Mass.) Country Club, in which position they are now rounding out their second year on a full tide of prosperity. They had as their guests last month, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Wentworth, Mrs. Clinton's parents, the 50th anniversary of whose wedding they celebrated on Oct. 12 with much festivity. Enroute to Rockland the Clintons visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall at Rangeley and Mrs. Joseph Marshall at Phillips, their journeying being made in their handsome new Dodge sedan. They are highly pleased with their Franklin connection, into which they graduated from the Rockland Country Club. "They are fine and generous people in that club," says Will—"but I wish I could have the team you've got on your course here to put on the Franklin links. I'd make it the finest nine-hole golf course in the United States."

A Great Profit Sharing Plan

We are about to inaugurate a unique profit sharing plan that will go a good way toward reducing the cost of living for you.

Our Plan Is This: We are going to make 90 combination packages of Canned Goods and Groceries to the amount of $1.00 each. Every package will be marked as to its contents and price of each article, so you will know just what you are getting. In one package out of every 10 we shall conceal a crisp new $1.00 bill, thereby giving you an opportunity to not only get your money's worth in goods, but also give you a chance to get $1.00 in cash, or your money back, so you can spend it all over again. In addition to the combination packages there will be 10 Bags of Flour, one of which will contain a $1.00 bill. The regular price of this flour is $1.00 a bag and every bag is guaranteed to give satisfaction; in fact all the goods are guaranteed.

In no instance will there be any increase in the present price of any article unless future prices compel it; but in some goods the price will be lower than what we are now selling for. Sugar will be included in each package at a reduced price. Goods delivered to any part of the city.

HAD WONDERFUL TRIP

Newberts Rode 8000 Miles and Visited Eight States, "Henry" Never Ruffled a Feather.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Newbert returned last week from a vacation trip of five weeks during which they motored through eight states and covered a total mileage of 2659 miles.

Leaving Rockland Oct. 1, they motored to Massachusetts and took in the Brockton Fair. From Boston via Worcester, Springfield, Stockbridge and Great Barrington through the Berkshires and over Jacob's ladder they arrived at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. on the 5th.

Here among other places visited, was Vassar College, the leading woman college of this country. Founded in 1861, and opened four years later with 365 students, this beautiful institution has come to occupy a prominent place as one of America's finest colleges. Just a walk on the broad sloping lawns and spacious campus past such architectural gems as Thompson Memorial Library, Taylor Hall, the New England Building and the chapel gives an impressive glimpse of the administration buildings.

Among the interesting sights on the college campus is a giant tank presented to the college by the French government in recognition of the services of the graduates during the World War. It is a monster and bears the marks of the battles through which it passed, a tablet upon the side recites the list. It was finally put out of commission by a German shell which penetrated the armor and bursting killed and wounded the entire crew of 14 men. Another tablet informs you that 90 per cent of the work of building this tank, and 80 per cent of the work upon the guns was the work of women of France.

Leaving Poughkeepsie on the morning of the 6th came a trip down the Hudson, crossing the ferry at Newburgh, and rounding up at Bound Brook, N. J., where a stop of two weeks was made. Many auto trips were made from this point covering many of the best in New Jersey.

One of these was to the Masonic Home in Burlington, in the southern part of the state, where was witnessed the way in which the Masons of the state care for their worthy dependents. Another was into Pennsylvania, crossing the Delaware at Easton and swinging around to Doylestown about 15 miles from Philadelphia, again crossing the Delaware at Washington's Crossing, where the Father of his Country crossed when on his way to surprise the Hessians at Trenton. Now instead of crossing in a boat among the icebergs you cross on a magnificent concrete bridge in a motor car. Probably George Washington would have been surprised to witness the new crossing now, Easton and Doylestown have large steel rolling mills. At one town on the trip a poultry ranch where 25,000 White Leghorns were quartered was interesting to Mr. Newbert, who swears by that breed. Another trip was to Lakewood, just opening for the winter season. George Gould and William Rockefeller have beautiful estates at this place. From Lakewood up the shore to Point Pleasant, Sea Girt, Belmar, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park, Long Beach and Perth Amboy home.

Duke's Park at Somerville, N. J., owned by the much advertised millionaire tobacco king, was an attraction for another day. At Monmouth they were shown the church where the wounded were cared for during the Revolutionary battle at that place. Services are regularly held in the church, which is said to be the second oldest in America. This whole section is rich in Revolutionary lore. Tablets and monuments mark many of the places where engagements were had.

Leaving Bound Brook on the 18th courses were laid for Albany up the Hudson 130 miles. The drive over the Adirondack Trail is a beautiful one, over cement roads and through beautiful towns and cities. The residence of E. H. Harriman is pointed out upon the top of one of the mountains. Mattewan, the present residence of Harry Thaw, is passed on the way.

At Hudson, 42 miles above Poughkeepsie, a sign over the road informs you that the plant you are now passing is The Atlas Portland Cement Co., capacity 6500 barrels per day. On the opposite side of the river are the works of the Alpha Cement Co.

Albany, "The Biggest Little Town in the East" was the next place of stopping. First a Dutch trading post in 1614 it came into possession of the English in 1664, and they gave it the name of Albany. Albany is the home of magnificent buildings. As one would expect, the edifice of administration are imposing and stately.

First the capital itself, which cost $25,000,000 to erect, and which occupies a commanding position overlooking the city is naturally the cynosure of all eyes. Next in importance is the State Educational Building where days may be spent with profit viewing the many historical, scientific, geological and other vast collections, said to be the largest in the country. Albany's beautiful parks are a sight well worth seeing.

Another interesting sight was the new concrete bridge just opened across the Hudson connecting Troy and Cohoes. Mr. and Mrs. Newbert attended the services at the First Baptist church in Troy where Mr. Newbert's niece, Mrs. Angus, is the soloist. Mrs. Angus was the guest of King Hiram's Shipmates at their annual outing at Jefferson this summer, and several have listened to her singing as the church services are broadcasted from Schenectady.

Leaving Albany Oct. 22, the return trip was made via the famous Mohawk and Troy and Cohoes.

Interesting Experience of Well Known Milbridge Man.

"I was troubled with indigestion for years, had tried everything that I could find, read of or hear of that was so-called indigestion cure and even went to lots of different physicians to cure the said ailment, but I got no real benefit from any of them.

"The first benefit that I ever received, was from two little samples of Priest's Indigestion Powder. I received so much help from the powders that I sent for a dollar and fifty cent ($1.50) jar. Four of those jars has completely cured me. I recommend the powders to everyone having the same trouble."

Trail. The climb up the grade from North Adams to the "Hairpin Turn" made "Henry" wheeze some, but he made it all right. The view from this point is a magnificent one and well worth the whole trip to see.

Next in interest comes Western Summit, directly overlooking the City of North Adams, five miles distant. It is over 2000 feet above the sea level and 1200 feet above the valley below. From this summit one can look down into the Hoosac Valley, where one can see seven lakes, three states and many towns.

Passing on to the Whitcomb Summit, 31 miles from Greenfield, the tourists comes to the beautiful monument, "The Elk on the Trail," erected by the Bay State Elks to the memory of their members who had given their lives in the World War and unveiled June 15 last. About 10 miles from Greenfield on the trail, at the base of the hills, is the Hoosac Tunnel, the longest in the world. As you pass along the roadway you look down and see trains going into the tunnel 1050 feet below.

Descending to Greenfield is about as bad as ascending from North Adams, likely to make the brakes smoke. Boston was reached via Fitchburg on the 23d, and two weeks were spent with the Newberts' sons, Walter in Waban, and Alonzo at South Weymouth.

No car bearing a Maine number plate was seen from the time of leaving Boston westbound until the return trips at Lynnfield, Mass. New York and Pennsylvania number plates were so large that they occupied a large portion of the front and back of the cars. Numbers around one and a half million were no uncommon sight around New York. Splendid roads, largely concrete, were encountered all through New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Beautiful scenery, the many colored tints of autumn were visible everywhere.

"Henry" returned without ruffling a feather or loosening a bolt, and was able to average 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline for the entire trip.

A NIGHT AT HOME

[For The Courier-Gazette] One more night near the old roof-tree, Father and brother—but one we miss, Who taught us to pray at a mother's knee, And sent us to bed with a goodnight kiss.

But the family circle is broken now, Mother and sister greet us no more, Though the same birds sing on the same bough, And the woodbine clambors about the door.

And a wasted chapel memory weaves Of those other days long past and gone, A lily, a rose and the waken leaves Of the ivy wet with the dew of dawn.

Kindred and friends of those other days, You have left us, but not for long; Soon will the sun's golden haze Stir the heart to a newer song.

Here and there are the minor chords; As our trembling fingers touch the keys; But the major harmonies of home life, And the sweetest of destinies.

There's a vacant chair in the chimney nook, A smile remembered that stirred the heart, And a chapter read from the only Book, Of life and living the better part.

Over and over we count with care The diamonds and pearls which once were ours; Now a broken ring and a lock of hair Are the hoarded treasures 'mong faded flowers.

So one more night near the old roof-tree, Father and brother—but one we miss, Who taught us to pray at a mother's knee, And sent us to bed with a goodnight kiss.

STRAND THEATRE

Do you remember Ichabod Crane and the terrifying "Headless Horseman"? In the story "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" by Washington Irving? Sure you do. Here is the story as shown on the screen today, Friday and Saturday afternoon, is an authentic filmization of Washington Irving's classic fiction. The exact historical locations. The inimitable Will Rogers brings to life the picturesque character of Ichabod Crane. You will hear him, touched by the pathetic courtship of Ichabod with Katrina Van Tassel, the wealthy belle of Sleepy Hollow. You will laugh at Will Rogers on the dance floor, riding horse back and his class in psalmody. The meeting between Ichabod and Headless Horseman will give you the thrill of your life.

"The Single Track" which comes for Saturday is a story of love, adventure and the regaining of a lost fortune. It is somewhat different in type from the usual Corinne Griffith production in that but a small portion of the story deals with society life. She is, however, afforded opportunity to wear many of the beautiful gowns which she has become known for as a photodrama. It is truly a big picture with many expensive and spectacular scenes. The society tableaux in which Corinne Griffith does "The Dance of the Seven Veils" as Salome, and the climax where the brave girl runs a locomotive to save the franchise are widely contrasted but equally spectacular.—Advt.

HAULAGE ACCIDENTS

Preventable In Large Degree, J. F. MacWilliams Tells the Safety Council.

One of the speakers at the 12th annual Safety Council Congress of the National Safety Council, held in Buffalo, Oct. 15, was J. F. MacWilliams of Cresson, Penn., a former Rockland boy. The current issue of the Coal Age says of his address:

"That haulage accidents are in large degree preventable was the keynote of the meeting of the mining section of the National Safety Council. The work and standards of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Corp. were described by J. F. MacWilliams, electrical engineer of the company, who was able to announce that, 'we have had at our mines only one minor accident due to locomotives in three years' and 'since we have put our rules in force we have had no locomotive derailments for a whole year.'"

To measure what this declaration means it was necessary to call on Mr. MacWilliams for information as to the size of the company which had thus so greatly reduced accidents. He told those present that the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Corp. operated 39 mines and 265 locomotives and that in many places coal was hauled as many as five miles from the face to the tipple, the average haul in one mine being 3.8 miles.

In concluding his paper Mr. MacWilliams remarked that "too little attention is paid to fuses on all mine machinery; copper wire, pieces of iron, etc., often replacing fuses. Circuit breakers are jumped or blocked, with the result that the equipment is overheated. Insulation is cracked and in consequence in case of short-circuits or other troubles neither machine nor operator has any protection."

"All kinds of mine cars are used, yet, as far as I can learn, little consideration has been given to reducing the friction in plain bearings by properly proportioning them to the speed of the wheels, except possibly in the case of the hollow axle. Most couplings are of primitive type and a source of danger. The car in general is seldom designed so that it will haul the largest quantity of coal with the least possible dead weight, due regard having been given to the kind of mine in which it is used."

Mr. MacWilliams advocated using a sage to determine at the mine as also at the shop whether the wheels were at right angles to the axle, careful balancing of the weight on the drivers of a locomotive, the turning down of wheels as soon as the false flange is one-fourth inch deep and the turning of any two wheels of a pair till they are within three thirty-seconds inch of the same diameter. The care manifested is justified by the results, which are altogether beyond reasonable expectation. Mr. MacWilliams said that finding 16-lb rail too light for rooms, they are laying the track in all new rooms with 25-lb steel.

In a discussion of means whereby current can be prevented from traveling back through the cars, Mr. MacWilliams advocated the use of fiber as the insulating medium. He said that wood tended to split and that fiber gave better results.

STUDEBAKER NON-STOP RECORD

The Light Six Crowded a Year's Run Into a Single Week.

Running continuously for seven days for a distance of 5504 miles at an average speed of 33.9-16 miles per hour, a Studebaker Light-Six has just completed another remarkable performance record at Syracuse, N. Y. The run was undertaken by Gere & Willis, dealers, to demonstrate for performance, endurance and economy. In seven days' time, the car delivered more than the average mileage for a whole year and did it so decisively that it is causing wide comment among motorists in that section of the country.

Outstanding features of the long run were the fact that the highest average for any one hour during the run was 48 miles; the highest speed, 67 miles an hour; the use of but three gallons of water for the whole run and the further fact that no air was put into the tires during the entire seven days. The best gasoline average for a six-hour period during the trip was 23 miles, and for the whole trip, the average was 18.1 miles to the gallon. Thirteen men took turn-about driving and at all times an observer of the Syracuse Post-Standard accompanied the car.

Fred L. Linekin of the Rockland Garage, the local dealer, says that it is the exclusive mechanical features of the Light-Six motor that account largely for this remarkable record. "For example," said Mr. Linekin, "Studebaker machines all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six engine instead of the usual practice of machining only the bearing surfaces. This insures exact balance and uniform weight of reciprocating parts. 'Vibration' is therefore practically eliminated, a feature that is responsible in part for unusual records of performance such as the run at Syracuse."

PARK THEATRE

The majority of screen patrons want plenty of dramatic "kick" in their picture. The "Silent Command" is full of it. Tula Williams Fox production was shown for the first time at the Park yesterday. It depicted the spectacular, blood as a spectacular melodrama. It was found to contain a number of high-grade sensations that had a logical bearing on the story and kept every man, woman and child with their eyes glued to the screen. It will be shown for the last time today. Added to the feature picture there will be shown a Comedy, Fables and the latest current events.

Dustin Farnum, virile William Fox star, will appear in the production of "The Trail," from the story by George Scarborough, which opens a two day engagement at Park Theatre starting Friday. The story deals with the early romance and traditions of the Texas Rangers, giving Farnum an ideal opportunity to portray the type of character which he handles so well. A capable cast supports Farnum and Miss Shaw. Advance notices say "The Trail" one of the best plays in which Farnum has appeared.—Advt.

The unprecedented popularity of the Studebaker Light-Six can be traced to the fact that it represents a degree of automobile value that the public has sought for years.

It is built complete in the great Studebaker factories.

By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, axles, frames, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, and stampings, parts-makers' profits are eliminated from costs, and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Phel Clayton's ravishing beauty and histrionic ability radiate from the silver screen as never before in her second starring vehicle for Film Booking Offices—"Can a Woman Love Twice?" which will be on view for the last time today and tonight at the Empire Theatre. No picture of this brilliant star's highly successful career has elicited as much praise from enthusiastic admirers as has her latest effort, which is a soul stirring drama with remarkably thrilling and entertaining qualities. Malvina McGrigor is Miss Clayton's leading man. The story was written by Wyndham Gittens and produced under the direction of James W. Horne. Added to the feature picture there will be a two reel comedy and scenic.

Three reasons for the attractiveness of "The Wild Party," starring Gladys Walton, coming to the Empire Theatre Friday and Saturday are the beautiful women that play the leading roles in the play. Miss Walton's beauty and charming personality have established her as one of the ranking stars of the screen. The other two beauties in the picture are Eileen Ralston, popular Universal leading woman, and Dorothy Valera, a newcomer, but undoubtedly a find. Miss Walton and Miss Valera are brunettes. Miss Ralston is a blonde.

FRIENDSHIP

Miss Merle Davis returned home Saturday night from Portland where she has been in training the past three years at Dr. Fies' Hospital. She is now a graduate of that institution. Thomas Benner recently bought the building known here as the Amar cottage and has moved it to the Jersey Benner farm. Mr. and Mrs. Van Collamore and Vannie Collamore recently enjoyed a delightful trip to Belfast where they visited friends. They made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. George Frisbie in their new Maxwell. Mrs. Lizzie Thompson has returned from Rock Cove where she has been caring for Mrs. Sidney Carter. Mrs. Susie Bradford is visiting relatives in Thomaston. R. E. Thompson and family and Mesdames Lizzie and Geneva Thompson were guests at Edward Hall's Willey's Sunday. Miss Violet Larrabee will return home Wednesday from Sillsy Hospital where she has been operated on for appendicitis. Mr. and Mrs. George Frisbie, and Fred Burnham and family spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Van Collamore. Mrs. Amanda Wineap was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening, her 76th birthday, when a dozen neighbors walked in with birthday cakes, candies and other gifts, tokens of love and good will. There was a gift from her daughter in Baldwinville, Mass., and a pretty remembrance from a cousin in Michigan. William Newbert and family spent Armistice Day in Thomaston, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hill.
